Re: Roles of the Plan Commission and the City Council in the Comprehensive Planning Process

The procedures for adopting and amending a comprehensive are found in §§ 62.23 and 66.1001, Wis. Stats.

"The adoption of the plan or any part, amendment, or addition, shall be by resolution carried by the affirmative votes of not less than a majority of all the members of the city plan commission." §62.23(3)(b), Wis. Stats.

"The plan commission or other body of a local governmental unit that is authorized to prepare or amend a comprehensive plan may recommend the adoption or amendment of a comprehensive plan only by adopting a resolution by a majority vote of the entire commission." §66.1001(4)(b), Wis. Stats.

The comprehensive planning statutes when read together make it clear that the Plan Commission is the body that adopts or amends a comprehensive plan. This can only be done by a resolution adopted by a majority vote of the entire Plan Commission.

The role of the City Council is to adopt public participation procedures, §66.1001(4)(a), Wis. Stats., to hold a public hearing before the ordinance adopting or amending the comprehensive plan is enacted, §66.1001(4)(d), Wis. Stats., and enacting an ordinance adopting or amending the comprehensive plan in conformance with the resolution adopted by the Plan Commission. The public hearing held by the City Council must be preceded by a class 1 notice that is published 30 days before the public hearing is held, Ibid.

Because the above cited statutes give the power to adopt or amend the Comprehensive Plan to the Plan Commission, the only consideration for the City Council is whether or not to adopt the proposed ordinance submitted in conformance with the resolution submitted by the Plan Commission. The statutes do not grant the City Council the right to amend the resolution of the Plan Commission or amend the proposed ordinance.

Therefore, while the City Council's input is important, it is the duty of the Plan Commission to adopt or amend the comprehensive plan.
